

Institute of China and Asia-Pacific Studies
National Sun Yat-sen University

Applicable to students enrolled beginning academic year 2012.

Revised 2012 May. 15
Passed 2012 May. 12

Article 1

These regulations are in accordance with the ‘Degree Conferral Law’ of the Ministry of Education and the ‘General Articles’ and ‘Graduates Degree Examination Articles’ of NSYSU.

Article 2

Regulations in Residence:

1. Weekly attendance: Before completing the minimum course credits required by the Master’s programs, students should attend classes of their selection. If applying for a scholarship, students should follow schedules provided by their advising professors.
2. Duration for Master’s programs: from a minimum of 1 year to a maximum of 4 years according to Ministry of Education (not including the entrance retention and any period of officially applied temporary leave).
3. Course credits and course requirements:
 - a. Students’ course selection must follow the regulations of the Institute of China and Asia-Pacific Studies (the Institute hereafter).
 - b. The maximum number of the course credits selected for each semester is 15 course credits (including courses from other graduate programs), and the minimum is 9 course credits. Students can obtain a maximum of 9 credits provided by other Master’s programs in NSYSU to fulfill a degree requirement.
4. Submission of Dissertation Title and Selecting the Thesis Supervisor(s)
 - a. Students must choose their thesis supervisor(s) no later than the first semester of their second-year and report the list of supervisor(s) to the Institute Committee.
 - b. Student must submit the list of members of their thesis exam committee to the Institute Committee for its approval. If their supervisor is a part-time professor of the Institute or a professor from other academic institutions, at least one member of the thesis exam committee must be a full-time professor in the Institute.
 - c. If students intend to change the title of the thesis or their thesis supervisor(s), they must submit the form “Application of Changing Thesis Supervisor and Title of Thesis” to the Institute Committee for its approval. If students intend to apply for a supervisor change after they pass the examination for their thesis proposal, they must apply for a new thesis proposal examination.

Article 3

The Master’s Degree Examination:

Definition of semester: First (Fall term) semester is from August 1st to January 31st of next year.

Second (Spring term) semester is from February 1st to July 31st.

1. Examination for the Thesis proposal:
 - a. Applying Time: students must submit their examination application form before the December 1st of the fall semester or May 1st of the spring semester.
 - b. Other regulations:
 - i. Students can apply for their thesis oral defense 3 months after passing the thesis proposal examination.
 - ii. A thesis proposal must be composed of the research topic, literature review, research method, thesis framework, bibliography, etc.
 - iii. A thesis proposal must be examined by its thesis examination committee.
2. The Thesis Examination:
 - a. Students must pass the oral exam of their thesis proposal and attend at least 10 academic conferences or speeches held by the Institute before they apply for the oral defense of the thesis.
 - b. The oral defense committee must include at least 3 members, including at least one professor from the Institute.
 - c. The passing score of the thesis is B-. Students who pass the thesis exam will be conferred the Master’s Degree in Social Science.
 - d. If students do not pass the degree exam in the duration limitation of the program, they can apply for a re-examination only once. If they do not pass the re-examination, the students will be dropped in accordance with Item 3 of Article 64 of the General Regulations of the University.

Article 4

Candidates who fulfill all the aforementioned requirements can apply for graduation

Article 5

This regulation is passed by the Institute and the College of Social Science, NSYSU., and is thereby signed by the President of the University. Any amendment of these regulations must follow the same procedure.